Visiting

Avoncroft Museum is a unique home for historic buildings which have been rescued from demolition and rebuilt in a beautiful corner of Worcestershire's rural countryside.

The buildings range from a 1940s prefab to a medieval merchants house and a windmill. There is something for everyone.

If you would like to know more about the history of the buildings please book a guided tour. Tours can take up to 25 people and more than one guide can be arranged for larger groups.

Have morning coffee, lunch and afternoon tea in the Museum's beautiful Edwardian Tea Room which serves award winning cakes and teas. Group prices include a private room for dining.

The Museum welcomes all types of group visitors and our grounds are accessible to wheelchair users.

Why not visit on one of our special event days? Pre-booked groups are very welcome and able to jump the entrance queues. If you would like further details about our events please visit www.avoncroft.org.uk.

We offer free admission for the group organiser and coach driver.
